

BOY, 12, MASTER OF 12 TONGUES, GIVES HIS LIFE STORY

The writer, 12-year-old prodigy, who has just entered Columbia University, equipped with a knowledge of 12 languages and with a better fund of general information than most college graduates possess, was asked by the United Press to tell in his own way how he acquired his unusual education. His parents, by the way, said Friday they considered him only normal, while most other children are sub-normal, going to a faulty educational system. The following was not edited, even as to punctuation.

NEW YORK.—What I have done is caused entirely by two things. The first is Horace Mann. From the kindergarten until the present day, I have had the good fortune of being in contact with remarkably good teachers. Already while in kindergarten the project method is impressed upon me. For instance, we were all asked to walk like bears, and that afternoon found me in front of the bears den in the zoological park. If we were studying birds, Esquimos, or Indians, I was down at the natural history museum. During all these years of elementary work, I spent two days a week at the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

At six, I was admitted as a regular student in the Roof School of Horace Mann. For several years, I worked among the clouds. Sometimes, the temperature was six degrees below zero. To this fact of working out-of-doors, I attribute the ability to complete several grades in one year.

When the teacher called for automobile clippings, I went to Detroit and Ford's factory was open to me. When we were studying the stockyards, I went to Chicago. But in the sixth grade, I was made desperate. We were to make a boat that year. I had visions of failure. But I could learn how it was done. I went to Pittsburgh and saw the Duquesne Steel plant. When we studied the beginning of the revolution, I took charge of the troops with Washington, under the Elm in Cambridge, visiting Longfellow's house at the same time. I joined the Minute Men at Lexington, and Concord. I saw the belfry tower where Paul Revere hung out his lantern. I saw Bunker Hill, where a battle was fought on the anniversary of my birth. Of course, I have previously stood on Plymouth Rock.

Three separate times I went into Virginia, visiting Jamestown. I believe I am the only American who ever visited Yorktown. When we studied the Civil War, I went down to Richmond, and was shown how it held a strong position on its plateau. I saw the place where the Monitor and the Merrimack had their engagement. Finally, there came that great visit to Gettysburg, which I shall always remember.

Civics! I went three times to Washington, saw both houses of Congress in session, and shook hands with President Wilson when he was not speaking to other people. I went to our state legislature just in time to see both senators and assemblymen rushing for the quarter of five train. I visited the Board of Estimate and apportionment, the board of aldermen, and even helped to install Mayor Hylan.

GREATEST TRIP OF ALL

During my high school, which occupied the full four years, there wasn't time for so many journeys, but when we were talking about the Panama Canal at school, I went up to Troy and saw a ship go thru the locks which are only four feet lower than those at Panama. But the greatest trip of all was my journey to Denver in 1918, to see the great eclipse. Oh, how good it was even to stand on the observatory grounds, and what feelings came over me when the sun was blotted out.

The two great factors helping me in doing what little I have done were Horace Mann school and the applying of the project method which I learned there.

8 PERSONS SHOT IN ROBBERY

Bandit Slain, Three Others Wounded in Ohio Bank Holdup

FOUR CITIZENS ARE INJURED

Streets of Bedford Scene of Fierce Battle

CLEVELAND — (By Associated Press) — Three counties were searched by posses Friday for the remnants of the bandit gang who late Thursday engaged in one of the most spectacular bank robberies in Ohio. Amid volleys of bullets that resembled a machine gun engagement, on bandit, Albert W. Joyce, who had numerous aliases, was killed, and three others, including "George Jiggs" Losterne, wanted for two murders and numerous robberies, were wounded and captured after eight men held up and robbed the branch bank of the Cleveland Trust Company at Bedford of $29,000.

All of the money was recovered. Citizens Shot

William Petrie, a bookkeeper in the bank, was probably fatally wounded. Three citizens were less seriously shot.

Four of the gang, all of whom also are believed to have been wounded, escaped after the battle which occurred in a lumber yard and in which every Bedford citizen who could find a weapon, participated. More than 200 shots were exchanged.

EMPLOYEES UNDER GUARD

The robbery occurred just as the bank was closing. Six of the gang entered and compelled the employees and five customers to enter the rear of the building. The employees were forced to lie on their faces and the customers were placed under guard in a room.

Scoring all the money in sight, said to amount to $50,000, the bandits rushed into the street. Almost simultaneously, George C. Fickinger, manager of the branch, touched the burglar alarm, which sounded in every downtown business house of Bedford.

E. W. Porter, a tire dealer one of those attracted, fatally shot Joyce, who was at the wheel of the machine. Failing to start the machine, the bandits fled, leaving the money intact in the machine. During the ensuing battle, Losterne, Harry Stone and an unidentified man were wounded. R. Osborn, proprietor of a grocery, bringing down two of them.

SAW BEDFORD BATTLE

AKRON — (By United Press) — Thomas W. Colby, and Lew C. Thompson, Cleveland, representatives of the Universal Film Company, enroute to Akron Thursday afternoon, witnessed the killing of one bandit and the capture of three others. They were within 150 feet of the bank in their car when the shooting started. Colby, a World War veteran, who saw action in France, said the action rivaled any skirmish he witnessed overseas.

George "Jiggs" Losterne, notorious bandit, wounded in the bank robbery, is under indictment in Summit-co, on a charge of pocket-picking, committed here two years ago. Losterne was released on $1,000 bond and failed to answer when his case was called.

ATTEMPT TO ROB BANK

AKRON — (By United Press) — Four youthful gunmen made an unsuccessful attempt to rob the State Bank at Lodi at 11:35 o'clock Friday. Three of the bandits entered the bank. One asked Cashier Clyde Layman to change a $10 bill. When he started to count out the change, the three drew revolvers and told him to hand over all the cash in sight.

Peedestrians approaching caused "old man" on the part of the bandits and they ran from the institution without obtaining a penny.

CHARGED WITH SHOOTING

CADIZ — Everett Dickerson, 80, was under arrest here Friday charged with shooting William Smith, 35, and Miss Mina Robb, 25. The shooting occurred at the Robb home.

One bullet penetrated Smith's head and another pierced his chest. The girl was shot in the arm. Police said jealousy was the cause.

EX-POSTMASTER INDICTED

LANCASTER, O.—E. F. Price, former postmaster of Lancaster, was indicted by the LaFayette-co grand jury on a charge of attempting to bribe Prosecuting Attorney J. H. Fultz in connection with the George W. Moss case.

POLITICAL CRISIS LOOMS IN BRITISH COAL STRIKE

WOMAN, CHARGED WITH STEALING U. S. PLATINUM, ARRESTED IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK — Florence Weller, who, according to the federal authorities, recently was indicted in Nashville, Tenn., on a charge of conspiracy to dispose of $19,000 worth of platinum stolen from the army's ordnance bureau, was arrested here Friday by federal agents.

The woman was taken to department of justice official headquarters and questioned by Chief William J. Flynn. According to federal agents, the platinum from the war department during the war totaled more than $500,000. The platinum later was sold to jewelers in this and other cities. It is alleged that Florence Weller was implicated in the theft of 165 ounces. Several men were said to have been indicted with her.

MACSWINEY SEES 'GLORIOUS MARCH'

Mayor Has Visions As He Sinks Into Delirium

PROTESTS FORCED FEEDING

Authorities Continue to Put Food in His Mouth

LONDON — (By Associated Press) — Terence MacSwiney, lord mayor of Cork, was delirious Friday morning and the prison authorities continued to force food into his mouth, in spite of his protests, according to a bulletin issued by the Irish Self-Determination League.

The lord mayor becomes conscious at intervals, the bulletin said, but is unable to recognize relatives or his surroundings. For a short time Thursday night his delirium again became violent.

FORCED TO EAT

"He went to sleep for about an hour," said the bulletin. "At about 4:05 o'clock he seemed to be rallying to his senses, but relapsed almost immediately. This occurred again between 7 and 8 o'clock, when his sister, Anna was with him. He suddenly said 'what was the month and the year, where he was, and was the Irish republic established and recognized."

"It seemed as if he might recognize his master, but he became delirious again, muttering: 'We did some grand marching during the night; they were marching as well, but we beat them; it's glorious.'"

"The prison authorities continued to force food into his mouth. About 5:30 o'clock Friday morning, a nurse held a spoon of meat juice to his lips, but he muttered, 'no, no, take it away,' and closed his lips firmly. The performance was repeated twice when his head fell back from exhaustion and the spoon was inserted in his mouth."

BATTLE NEAR CORK

CORK, Ireland.—An officer and four privates were killed and five other soldiers wounded Friday morning when two military lorries were ambushed 12 miles from Cork. The attackers numbered 100 and it is not known whether they suffered any casualties from the fire returned by the militia. Forces of military police were sent to the scene of the ambush.

The fight lasted half an hour. The attacking lorry captured all the equipment carried by both lorries. The scene of the attack was a narrow road between heavily wooded hills.

EXPOSE PROMISED

Judge Landis Takes Hand in Alleged Liquor Ring

CHICAGO — (By Associated Press) — Federal Judge K. M. Landis Friday began active participation in the investigation of an alleged "whisky ring," said to be shipping liquor to Chicago under forged permits and distributing it wholesale to former saloon keepers.

The judge ordered the district attorney's office and the prohibition officers of the district to bring in every man connected with the whisky traffic, and asserted he "would expose every crooked politician and federal agent in Chicago."

Federal warrants have been issued for six politicians who are charged with complicity in the "whisky ring." Four of them are detective sergeants, one a patrolman and the other a motor cycle policeman. The charges range from attempted bribery to conspiracy to violate the prohibition laws.

DONAHEY IS FOR PLAIN BUSINESS

Promises Big Crowd Here Sane and Solid Administration

ORWIG, WAR HERO, CHEERED

Mrs. Wilson Speaks for The League of Nations

Before an audience that filled Memorial Hall almost to capacity, Thursday night, Auditor of State A. V. Donahey, the Democratic nominee for the high office of Governor of Ohio, pledged himself, if elected, to enforce the law without fear, or favor and to see to it that the provisions of the Volstead law are respected, and that no act be passed that will in any manner impair or weaken the Volstead's compensation law.

"I promise you that I will remove from office any Mayor or other official over whom I have control who refuses or neglects to do his duty to the people. I am a plain business man," said Donahey, "and I am going to give you a plain business talk here and a plain business administration should be elected. Ohio needs a business man as chief executive, to manage its affairs, as it is, after all, just a business corporation, with the people as stockholders, with an investment of many millions of dollars."

L. E. Ludwig, chairman of the Alliance Cox club, called the vast assembly to order, after the speaker's of the evening had appeared on the stage. A. V. Donahey, the candidate for Governor, Chas. Orwig, the nominee for Treasurer of State; Mrs. Halsey W. Wilson of New York, recording secretary of the National American Woman Suffrage Association, and Congressman John H. Small, of the first district of North Carolina, who has served 22 years in the national congress, a storm of applause greeted the speakers.

Judge E. M. Boklin was the chairman of the evening, presiding in a manner that prevented a hitch of any kind occurring, and bringing the big program of the evening to a close by 10 p. m.

ORWIG FOR ORWIG

Chas. Orwig, candidate for Treasurer of state, who lost a leg in the Argonne in the world war, while serving as a sergeant, was presented to the audience by one of his buddies, Robert Heffner, nominee for Representative of Allen-co. As Mr. Orwig arose, supporting himself on one leg with a pair of crutches, the vast audience broke into applause in a vociferous manner, every one arising to their feet as a mark of honor to the maimed war hero.

Cheers rent the air and scores of men and women saluted the man who had made such a heroic sacrifice for America's cause. It was a thrilling moment.

"I am not seeking office on my record as a soldier, nor am I making an appeal to sympathy," Mr. Orwig said, "but I am seeking your aid at the ballot box on my record and experience as an expert accountant, the line of endeavor in which I was engaged prior to being called to the colors."

Mr. Orwig spoke very kindly of his opponent who is seeking a third term and asked the voters if they did not think it fair that another be given the opportunity now to serve the people of Ohio.

J. F. Drennan of this city presented an original declaration, that depicted the campaign of Warren C. Harding in a manner such as to elicit laughter from his audience.

Mr. E. B. Taylor, secretary of the Woman's Executive committee of Allen-co, in well chosen words, reviewing briefly the past few years, presented Mrs. Halsey W. Wilson of New York.

Lima audiences have heard woman speakers in the past, but never have they had the pleasure of listening to such a wonderful exposition of profound thought from a feminine mind on the issues of the campaign as we have in the dramatic, pleasing and convincing manner by Mrs. Wilson.

A WONDERFUL ADDRESS
Mrs. Wilson elicited a wave of vociferous applause when she addressed her hearers at "My Fellow Voters."

She referred to August 18, 1920, when Tennessee took her place as the 36th state to ratify the suffrage amendment, affording women the opportunity to take "their place in the ranks of the voters of the land, sharing equal responsibility along with equal privilege with the men at the ballot box."

"Article 10 is the moral replacement of guns," Mrs. Wilson declared, in explaining the "covenant" of the League of Nations. Mrs. Wilson told in a graphic manner how the entry of the U. S. into the League was threatened by a Republican majority of one which named Henry Cabot Lodge as the chief.

'DON'T HITCH YOUR WAGON TO STAR,' GIRLS WARNED BY MRS. CHAPLIN'S MOTHER

CHICAGO — Girls, if you want to be a success, don't hitch your wagon to a star.

This tip was handed out by Charlie Chaplin's mother-in-law, enroute Friday to Los Angeles with Mildred Harris, Charlie's wife.

Mrs. Chaplin refused to discuss her domestic troubles, but her mother had a few things to say.

"The trouble with Charlie is that he's so in love with his feet that he can't see anything else," she said. "I have just one bit of advice for trusting young girls: 'Don't hitch your wagon to a star.'"

"ROOT TRYING TO STEM TIDE"

Cox Sees "Eleventh Hour Attempt" on League Issue

WOULD 'CREATE FALSE ISSUE'

Democratic Nominee Plans Counter-Moves—Now in Jersey

ENROUTE WITH GOVERNOR COX, PHILADELPHIA — (By United Press) — Governor Cox, beginning his first invasion of New Jersey Friday, was considering counter-moves against what he believes is an 11th hour attempt of Elihu Root, backed by Senator Harding, to stem the tide, he says has set in toward his candidacy.

After reading the reply of Root to his telegram demanding that the Republican leader retract his statement that "Mr. Cox wants the league just as Mr. Wilson negotiated it," the governor said the apparent object of this movement is to represent his attitude on reservations from now until election day.

Cox believes Root is endeavoring to create "the false issue" of the league as written versus the league with the Lodge reservations. He said he noted similar tactics in Harding's Rochester speech.

"Suddenly, the Republicans after their candidate has declared in favor of rejection of the league, begin talking of the Lodge reservations," he said. "Senator Lodge did not write an endorsement of his reservations into the Republican platform and at no time during his campaigning declared in favor of them."

"If the child is abandoned by his father, I shall not consider myself bound to act as its guardian," Root's HAND SEEN.

In the Democratic camp, it is believed that Root has assumed the leadership in an attempt to check the bolting of Republicans to Cox on the league issue, as the result of Harding's Des Moines speech. It is realized that Root is a most formidable opponent, but it is believed that, if the former secretary of state comes out "strong" for a modified league, Senators Johnson and Borah will start "swinging their clubs against" as Cox puts it.

It is probable that Cox will issue a statement in reply to Root later in the day. His schedule Friday called for speeches at Trenton, Princeton, Newark and Jersey City. After his night speech, he will motor to New York. Most of the trip from Trenton to New York will be made by motor.

CAN'T GO TO DES MOINES

ENROUTE WITH GOVERNOR COX, TRENTON, N. J. — (By United Press) — Although Governor Cox desires to make a speech in Des Moines as a dramatic reply to Senator Harding's declaration for rejection of the league covenant, it is improbable the date can be arranged. Charles E. Morris, Cox's secretary, said.

The schedule for the rest of the campaign has been completed, he said, and it is very doubtful if it can be changed to include Des Moines.

SHOT BY DEPUTY

Suspect Wounded by Officer at Berea, Ohio

Berea, Ohio — (By United Press) — Stanley Borsz, 19, was believed dying from bullet wounds received in a battle with Deputy Marshal Charles Smith early Friday. Smith is one of several citizens sworn in to help fight the epidemic of robberies here.

He found Borsz hiding in a doorway and asked him what he was doing there. The reply was several shots and Smith returned the fire. Four bullets took effect in the young man's abdomen.

LABOR MEN MAY SPLIT ENGLAND

Miners' Struggle Likely to Precipitate Historic Situation

ACTION IS EXPECTED TODAY

Definite Stand to be Taken by the Government

LONDON — (By Associated Press) — A latent in the miners' strike and the threatened walkout of railroad and transport workers throughout the country was centered Friday on 10 Downing-st, the official residence of Premier Lloyd-George.

Served with virtual ultimatums by the railroad and transport men to begin negotiations with the miners Friday on pain of facing a tie-up of railroad and possibly other traffic on Sunday night, the premier was expected to make a definite announcement of the stand the government would take.

POLITICAL CRISIS

Members of the cabinet held a long meeting Thursday night, but the decisions reached were not made public. It was learned, however, that on matter discussed was an appeal to the country for a mandate to settle the miners' strike, indications of a political, as well as an industrial crisis, were found in the situation, it was declared, and it appeared that labor had joined issue with the government in a struggle which might become historic.

In formal conversations with men prominent in the councils of labor, the premier was given a hint of weakening or receding from his position that pledges for increased coal production and reference to the miners' demands to an independent tribunal must be agreed to as conditions precedent to an increase in wages for the men. It was believed that the threat of the railway and transport men, served, not to drive the premier from his position, but to make it more difficult for him to enter into negotiations with the coal diggers.

IRRELENT GROWS

Serious economic conditions already are becoming evident in some localities as a result of the miners' strike, and there is a widening circle of idleness that causes concern.

Drastic restriction of railroad and shipping schedules has already been ordered and many industrial plants have been forced to close because of lack of coal.

WAR-TIME BILL FRAMED

LONDON — (By United Press) — An emergency bill, giving the government war-time powers to use military forces for any purpose, will be introduced in the British parliament for passage Monday.

The bill drafted to meet the threatened general strike in support of British miners, will give the government power to detain and control all resources.

The bill was said to have been drafted, ready for presentation and immediate passage Monday. It was assumed introduction was delayed until Monday to permit resumption of negotiations if the vote should be opened before the expiration of ultimatums served on the government.

It was stated semi-officially that the government fears it will be impossible to meet the terms of railway and transport workers in strike to permit them to cancel their strike arrangements.

The railway men have issued orders for a strike Sunday midnight, unless countermanded. The transport men will make no strike arrangements until next week.

The transporters, acting alone, would be compelled to take individual action, but they may be sure that delay in an executive meeting of the trade union congress is called as threatened. The congress' parliamentary committee has announced the executive meeting will be called if the government does not resume negotiations with the miners before Friday midnight.

PLOT UNEARTHED

Attempt to Kill King Alexander Seen in Monkey Bite

ROME — (By Associated Press) — Injuries inflicted upon King Alexander by a monkey were the result of a plot to assassinate the young monarch, according to Dr. George Fernandez Vidal, of Paris, who has been attending the king, and was interviewed by the messengers, while passing thru Rome on his way home from Athens.

"While the story of the monkey biting King Alexander is true," Dr. Vidal is quoted as saying, "the monkey was suffering from rabies with which it had been artificially inoculated. Hence, a veritable attempt against the king's life was committed."

Interviews With Governor Cox

(BY J. W. FISHER)

A POLITICAL PROGNOSTICATOR.
Governor Cox, in addition to being the best exponent of human ability as a political campaigner known in history, is likewise a prognosticator of no mean ability when it comes to correctly forecasting what his opponent is going to do next and eventually.

Spending part of a day with the Democratic standard bearer, aboard his special train during his tour through the state, the writer was given an insight into a side of the nominee's character that is best discerned by those who are engaged in the same profession to which Governor Cox has given practically his entire life—newspaper making.

The really successful newspaper man is required to be not only a quick and accurate observer of things that are, but also of things that are to be. In other words, he must be able to forecast with at least some degree of accuracy the "turn" events are to take. In this the Governor is the possessor of ability par excellence.

Discussing with the writer the 11 different positions Senator Harding had already taken on the question of the League of Nations, Governor Cox said: "I really believe that before election day comes, the Republican nominee will repudiate his Des Moines speech, wherein he turned his back on the League, closed his ears to the echo of suffering among the aged and means of dying babies in the old world and that he will publicly voice approval of the League, possibly with the exception of Article X."

Proof of the accuracy of the forecast came sooner than expected. Before the end of the week, Senator Harding had revised his viewpoint for the 12th time and stated that he favored taking the best features of the Versailles treaty for the formation of a world association of nations. This pronouncement by Senator Harding quickly followed the publication of the opinion of "21" leading publicists, all of them Republicans.

"How Senator Harding is going to be able to do so on satisfying the pro-League and the irreconcilable is more than anyone can understand," Governor Cox said.

A N N U N C I A T I O N—Schools throughout Van Wert Co. are to have special health supervision this winter so that the children may be brought up to par physically and mentally.

OTTAWA—Loretta McDonald, teacher at Ottoville, suffered severe bruising when an auto, driven from Ottoville to Ottoville, by Moses Wannemacher, was overturned, when making too short a turn.

How To Overcome

That Awful Reaction Caused By Influenza

Influenza, Grippe, or any severe sickness leaves the blood poor, thin and dehydrated, and the system weak, run-down and in nervous condition. The one great remedy to create strength after sickness is Vinol, because it contains the tissue-building elements of fresh cod liver, aided by the blood, strength and vitality making elements of tonic iron, beef peptone and glycerophosphates. It cures a hearty appetite, aids digestion, quickens the circulation and every nerve organ and muscle of the body is soon filled with new strength, energy and vitality.

There are many people in this city who will tell you from personal experience what Vinol has done for them.—Adv.

USE IODINE FOR YOUR RAW SORE THROAT

Shut Off the Dangerous Cold or Influenza Before It Gets Started—Wash's Stain

There is really nothing better for a raw, sore throat than the application of a little Iodine. But don't use the old plain tincture of Iodine of course, for that stains and sometimes irritates your skin and is nasty and disagreeable to use. Instead get a small jar of Labeled Iodine, in convenient form, which is practically tasteless never irritates and when spread on the throat with the fingers, rapidly penetrates direct to the sore, inflamed membranes, reduces swelling, loosens congestion, drives out mucus, pain, and prevents the development of serious trouble.

Labeled Iodine—retains all the healing, analgesic and antiseptic properties of straight Iodine with none of its disagreeable or dangerous features. It makes a famous "rub out" for Croup, Lumbago, Lameness, Back, Sore Muscles, swollen Joints, Neuralgia, Sprains or Bruises in treating Colds, Sore Throat, Nasal Catarrh, Bronchitis, Cuts, Wounds, Bruises etc. its rapid healing power seems little short of magic. Most folks know the value of Iodine—make sure next time you need it to get Labeled Iodine. You will never use it again in any other form. Get a trial jar today at I. R. Butler, Mykranitz Co., or any reliable drug store.—Adv.

MEXICAN TOILERS COME TO U. S.

Higher Wages Causing Steady
Flow Across the Border

MEXICO CITY, Mexico—Mexico is beginning to feel the heavy flow of labor from this country to the United States, and ways are being discussed to keep the Mexican workmen at home. Those who go to the United States are the best of the laborers, vigorous, enterprising, who are able to earn and save enough for the journey. Those who remain behind are chiefly of the lazy, shiftless class—men who are not looked upon as prizes by employers.

The great reason for the rush to the United States is that the Mexicans are better paid there. Men who have worked in the Mexican oil fields, where laborers get three and a half pesos, or $1.75 in American money, cross the border into Texas, where many of them get as high as $2 a day, or ten pesos, in the American oil fields. Those who work on railroads and ranches get much better pay than they could obtain in the part of Mexico where the highest wages paid—the oil fields. Outside of the Tampico district, Mexican laborers get much less than $1.75 a day. In some sections men are glad to work for one and two pesos a day.

The "high wages" in the oil fields have caused Mexican laborers to go there from all parts of the country, but as the Tampico section is very unhealthy many become sick and are forced to leave.

Another cause of the rush across the border is the unsettled condition of Mexico. Many Carranzistas dread mistreatment, have lost their homes and are forced to go to the United States.

MEXICO CITY, Mexico. — War of paying Mexico's national debt are being laboriously worked out by President Adolfo de la Huerta and his Cabinet. He has decided that the first step necessary to re-establish Mexico's credit abroad is to carry out economies which will convince the world of Mexico's serious determination to meet its obligations.

The decision to retire 30,000 soldiers now enlisted in the regular army is only one of the numerous economies decided on by President de la Huerta but it is the most daring one, when it is remembered that the revolution is only a few months old and that the defeated faction is still actively conspiring. The plan is to put the 30,000 soldiers on half pay for the present, in the expectation that most of them if not all of them, will soon find regular civilian work and cease to draw the half pay. Efforts will be made to put all of these men in as good positions as can be found for them.

The half-pay idea is to keep them from drifting into mischievous hands during the period in which they adjust themselves to civil life. Without the half pay, there is nothing what the soldiers might do if confronted with a period of idleness and need.

But despite the careful planning of the Government it is a bold step as many of the Mexican soldiers are reckless persons, irresponsible and fond of idleness, who may not accept with cordiality the prospect of the hard work called for in civil life, after their days of sloth in the army.

There are now in the Mexican Army 14,004 officers and 85,549 enlisted men. The retirement of 30,000 soldiers would reduce the enlisted men to 55,549. It will be the second reduction of the army since President de la Huerta took control of the Government. 713 officers and 23,120 soldiers having returned to civil life a short time after the downfall of the Carranza Government.

GOVERNMENTAL ECONOMIES
Economies are being practiced in every governmental department. It is said the Government's efforts to add to its revenues from the oil fields is solely for the purpose of increasing the fund to be used in paying the national debt. The unpaid interest alone is $125,569,567.51, making the total debt $546,349,468.65.

The many reforms brought about by President de la Huerta are the theme of constant discussion here, and there are many varying interpretations of his purpose.

One element is disposed to think that he is an altruist who is ready to sacrifice himself in the service of his people. These credit him with possessing even greater confidence in the Mexican masses than Francisco Madero and say that as his health is bad and he could not long endure the wear and tear of the high post he holds, he wishes to do all the good he can in the short time before his retirement.

HUERTA'S AMBITIONS

Another element is disposed to see in President de la Huerta an ambitious man who is looking far ahead. These say that as de la Huerta is still only a little more than forty years old he must be thinking of remaining actively in politics for many years to come. They think that he is trying to make a brilliant record during his few months of power so that when the next Presidential election draws near the people will remember him and want him at the head of the Government. They say that the condition of his health makes it necessary that he take a long rest as soon as possible and that he will have time to regain his strength under the Oregon administration. Then, having made a notable record as President, he will be ready to return to power.

It is recalled that Porfirio Diaz, after becoming President on a revolutionary wave, rested four years after his first term and then returned to the Presidency to hold it for thirty years.

But there are many who insist that Oregon and not Huerta is the Diaz of this revolution. These predict that Oregon will be the dominant man in Mexico for the next twenty or thirty years.

PLAN ENGLISH CLASSES
A class in English for foreigners who wish to become citizens of the United States and those who wish a better understanding of the language will be started at the Y. M. C. A. soon, according to Louis C. Bradshaw, new secretary. It is the plan of the secretary to have a class in the day and a night assemblage so that all who wish can have the opportunity to join the class.

Reaching the people and reaching them when they have time to read your ad is the secret for getting results from your want ads. The News & Times-Democrat does both of these things—reaches more people than any other Lima daily newspaper and reaches them in the evening at home where they have time to read your ad.

BEAUTIES ARE HAND MADE IN LIMA

Susie Smart Visits "Madame"—Here's Her Story

(BY SUSIE SMART)

Beauty parlors are great institutions!

They are very unassuming-looking little shops, in the main, but oh the wonders that can be wrought in one! Take myself for instance:

I wanted to be retouched, made up and made over, accordingly I received an appointment with "Madame." One of the very first things I learned on visiting her was that rats are coming into their own and that earbobs are almost a thing of the past.

Pretty soon the woman won't have to lift a bob of hair off their ear to hear what's being said. They will feel dressed even though their ears are exposed to human gaze.

A LOOK OF PITY?

Madame gave me a critical gaze as I entered her domain. I thought it was a look of pity, but I may have been mistaken. "Huh!" she says, "awful eyebrows." With which remark she began to star them down and jerk them out, after which operation I looked to see if I had any left. What were left were arched slightly, and looked like someone had taken a pencil and made two wobbly lines across my forehead.

What agonies we beauties must go thru to stay beautiful!

Next she found a rat and put it on this rat is not at all like the one I wore ten years ago. Oh no! It extends from ear to ear, thus making the ear bobs unnecessary. And I could hear fine.

WATERPROOF ROUGE

I insisted on using some bright pink powder. The color is so pretty, I think. But Madame emphatically says "no" and brings forth some putty colored stuff that I was sure would make me look horrible. I told her it would, but she is so stubborn, and I let her ruin me further. I was sure I was a wreck, anyway. But strings to say, the powder matched my skin rather well, with the addition of rouge, which I was informed, as a new kind, being waterproof. As it looked cloudy outside, I was glad I had the new kind on.

ABOUT THE FEE

The fee was enough to make any one gasp, but then I remembered the eye brow operation and the waterproof rouge, which I understand, is imported, and cheerfully forked over. I did look nice, tho, if I do say so myself.

Yes, these beauty parlors are great ideas.

GARY SEES CLEAR BUSINESS SKY

U. S. Steel Corporation Head Talks on Trade Outlook

"REASONS FOR CONFIDENCE"

No Cause for Discouragement or Impatience He Says

NEW YORK.—(By Associated Press.)—Business prospects are unusually bright, both in the United States and abroad, Elbert H. Gary, head of the United States Steel corporation, declared in an address before the American Iron and Steel Institute here Friday.

"Altho this is a time for courage, composure and caution," Mr. Gary said, "the business skies are practically without clouds. As always, there may be showers from time to time, but there is nothing in the atmosphere to indicate the approach of dangerous storms."

"If there should be a serious reaction and depression," he continued, "which now seems improbable, it will be the fault of those who are connected with business operations or others who by reason of their positions, improperly interfere and not because of any fundamental deficiencies in our resources and opportunities."

PRICES TOO HIGH.
"Without referring to individual cases or lines of general business, I believe in many instances prices have been outrageously high. This observation applies more especially to middlemen, so-called, and to smaller departments of industry. It also includes employees in certain trades; but it does not pertain under present conditions to the masses of workmen.

"The present tendency toward a lower, more reasonable and fairer relative basis. The difficulty is found in the fact that every individual is perfectly willing that all others shall make reductions—the larger the better. Now a general panic, including particularly those who are neither buyers nor sellers to any large extent, will in one way or another bring about a fair and reasonable adjustment of prices. The law of supply and demand will be the principal factor.

"The people of the United States have reason for confidence in the business future. They need not be discouraged nor impatient."

STEADY RECOVERY

Speedy recovery of industry in France and Belgium from the ravages of war was predicted by Mr. Gary. He described in some detail his recent trip over the battle fields of the two countries, where "the surface of the ground was churned into great masses of rough and irregular shapes," expressing surprise that any appreciable progress toward rehabilitation had been made. "Rehabilitation was made possible," Mr. Gary said, "by the spirit of the French and Belgian people—the good natured, grim, persistent and splendid effort to succeed, to restore and to recover."

"I think France has one of the best administrations she has ever had," Mr. Gary continued.

"The president is strong, resourceful, honest and has the confidence of everyone. The cabinet is made up of good men. We shall see great progress economically, financially and commercially during the next few years."

BANKERS HIT BACK AT WILLIAMS

Association Condemns "Attacks on Credit Structure"

BRINGS OUT HEATED DEBATE

Resolution Results From the Comptroller's Criticisms

WASHINGTON — (By Associated Press.) — Discussion by the American Bankers' association of criticisms leveled recently at certain New York banks by Comptroller of Currency William C. Williams Friday in the adoption of a report of the association's resolutions committee condemning "dangerous attacks" by unnamed individuals on the credit structure of the country.

Presentation of the report brought on a heated discussion. Several members maintained that the convention itself was not interested in the controversy which has grown out of Comptroller Williams' charge that certain bankers had received inordinate rates of interest on call loans. The resolutions committee report expressed complete approval of the federal reserve system; condemned any effort to use the government funds or forces to arbitrarily hold up or to force down prices or otherwise "to interfere with normal economic influences;" recommended the elimination of the excess profit tax as unequitable and of the surplus tax because "it acts as a brake on production;" pledges the efforts of the members toward the opening of foreign markets thru extension of long term credits or other means.

HOARDING CONDEMNED
The report condemned "speculative hoarding" in agriculture or other industries, renewed the recommendation for a national budget system and expressed the association's complete disapproval of nationalization of industry, particularly as contemplated by the Plumb plan. The association thru adoption of resolutions went on record as opposing "further participation of the government in business enterprises," and referred to the alleged extrajurisdictional losses resulting from government operation of railroads.

While favoring immigration as a means of preventing labor shortage and enabling the development of resources, the committee report as adopted recommended caution in the admission of aliens in order that the country's welfare and its ideals might be safeguarded. A five year program for construction of national highways was endorsed. The report in conclusion expressed the opinion that the United States faced an era of world leadership and prosperity which could only be lost "by internal strife or failure of national leadership."

WILLIAMS DEFENDED
D. F. Guinan of Mahanoy City, Pa., arose to defend Mr. Williams, describing him as "the most faithful and efficient controller of the currency who has been in office since the organization of the government."

This declaration was greeted with hisses from several sections of the convention hall.

Mr. Guinan declared he was not in favor of the American Bankers' association entering a private quarrel and asserted that the comptroller's charges were not directed at the association in any respect, adding that Mr. Williams had on several occasions given unqualified approval to the association and its work as an organization.

J. M. Kehoe of Maysville, Ky., replying to Mr. Guinan, declared the convention could not afford "to have such charges cast into the faces of us all and not state it views in answer thereto."

Mr. Kehoe asserted that if any charges were to be made in the resolutions "let's make those stronger which refer to Williams."

HOLSTEIN RECOVERING
Gus Holstein, proprietor of the Leader Store, who underwent an operation for appendicitis at St. Rita's hospital, Thursday, is rallying remarkably well. According to Dr. T. R. Thomas, Holstein's physician, his condition is good and recovery is assured.

EMPLOYEES WARNED
TOLEDO — City Law Director Martin Friday warned municipal employees to expect loss of their jobs if two tax levy measures fail at the election on November 2. He said that unless the voters approve the extra levy, only the water, fire and police departments can function.

BLOODY CAR MAY SOLVE MURDER

Auto Held as Evidence in Elmer Drewes' Killing

CLOSE FRIEND IS SUSPECTED

University Student is Charged With the Crime

PHILADELPHIA — (By Associated Press.) — A nation-wide search was instituted Friday for William P. Brines, the university of Pennsylvania freshman for whom a warrant was issued Thursday charging him with the murder of Elmer C. Drewes, the Dartmouth college student slain here last Saturday night.

The young men were said by police to have been close friends. Although the authorities declare they have discovered no motive for the crime, they say they have a large quantity of evidence which directly points to Brines as being responsible for the death of Drewes.

PLANNED TO BUY AUTO
One theory of the police is that he was killed in a dispute over the purchase of an automobile. Before leaving his home in West Philadelphia last Saturday night, Drewes told his father he intended buying a second hand motor car and those working on the case said it has been learned that it was Brines' machine he planned to purchase.

The car found abandoned Thursday a mile from where Drewes' body was discovered and which was identified as having belonged to Brines is the one the Dartmouth student intended buying, according to the detectives in the car, which was stained with blood, were found an automatic pistol with two cartridges.

missing and two empty bottles. APARTMENTS CLOSED
The police have been searching for Brines for several days. He lived with his mother, who is a widow in West Philadelphia, and their apartments have been closed since Monday. He has not attended any classes at the university since last week. Mrs. Brines was said to be in a local hospital suffering from a nervous trouble.

ARREST EXPECTED SOON
Although a widespread search is being made for Brines, the police believe the accused college student is in or near the city and will be found within 24 hours, if he does not voluntarily surrender.

"We do not believe young Brines killed Elmer," said a member of the Drewes family Friday. "The two boys were almost inseparable companions. We are too Christian a people even to think Brines had anything to do with it. Elmer and Brines were students at the West Philadelphia high school. Brines was a frequent visitor at our home and very often slept and dined here. During his vacation, while Elmer was working as a district manager for a New York concern, he gave Brines a position as a salesman. We knew Elmer was to meet Brines Saturday but we are not certain whether they met. So far as we know, Elmer was not to have purchased an automobile from Brines, but from another man."

HARDING REWARD CLAIMED

G. R. Lunn Offers Proof of Inconsistencies on League

BERESFORD, S. D. — (By United Press.) — One claimant of the reward offered by Senator Warren G. Harding to any one pointing out inconsistencies in his attitude on the league of nations appeared Friday in George R. Lunn, mayor of Schenectady, N. Y.

In a telegram Friday to Senator Harding, Lunn, after citing alleged proofs of inconsistencies, asked as a reward that the Republican candidate "state in the press whether Elmer Root or Senator Johnston correctly gives your position."

"It is not uncommon for the advocates of Versailles to contrast unfavorably the Hague tribunal upon the ground that the tribunal lacks teeth. Very well then, let us put teeth into it." And: "If the league has been so intertwined and interwoven into the peace of Europe that its good must be preserved in order to stabilize the peace of that continent, then it may be amended or revised." September 6, Harding decided, the telegram said:

"We are all agreed that amendment, revision or reconstruction is possible and vastly better than reservations," while the Des Moines speech was: "I do not want to clarify these obligations. I want to turn my back on them. It is not interpretation, but rejection that I am seeking."

"TALKED TOO LOUD WHILE VISITING" OHIOAN IS SHOT TO DEATH AT IRONTON
IRONTON — Cal Ferguson, 36, molder, was shot and instantly killed here Friday by James Hurn, employed at a local iron plant. Hurn is said to have objected to Ferguson talking loud while visiting next door to the Hurn home. It was said Ferguson's real name was Frank Reno, and that he came here recently from Springfield, O.

Let Your Dollars Grow With LIMA

Your opportunity is at hand.
Own a part of old Lima and as her population grows your dollars will double and treble.
1921-1922 will see Lima build as never before.

THERE WILL BE FROM 500 TO 1000 HOMES SHORT

Here is how we figure it.
Some of our factories are running from 30% to 40%. Some at 100%. Yet today we have a shortage of 300 homes.

Practically all manufacturers are doubling their capacity, and with new manufacturers that are about ready to start building their plants—such as The Union Tank Car Co., Lima Foundry and Machine Co. — What will happen when all these are running 100%? Limaites will be walking the streets for a place to live.

CLESTON ADDITION

is in the heart of the manufacturing district. Surrounded by modern homes. Located at Metcalf and Vine streets.

Metcalf Street — brick paved street with water, sewer and gas.

Vine Street — Street Car Line.

Cross Streets — Holly and Oak.

CLESTON ADDITION

Investigate! Buy now! You know Lima is growing.
It is easier to let opportunities go by than grasp them, but the man who does not grasp opportunities is the man who never has anything. Pin your faith on Lima. Buy real estate.

CLESTON'S are large size lots as low as $400. No interest, no taxes for a year. 10% down and then $5 a month.

Oct. 1.

To Vic Donahay
MY DEAR VIC: I was mighty glad to have you as a visitor in Lima last night. Although you are the Democratic nominee for Governor of Ohio, I find that many Republicans are strongly advocating your election and will vote for you, and they too were pleased that you came to see them before election.

You have made a hit with Lima folks by your record and they feel even more kindly to you now that they have had an opportunity to see you. And if anyone who saw or met Charles B. Orwig, the Democratic candidate for Treasurer, here with you, should refuse or neglect to vote for him also, that person surely is unappreciative of the great sacrifice Mr. Orwig made in the world war.

LIMA BEANE.

To Governor James M. Cox

DEAR JIM: I feel that Senator Harding's reluctance to meet you in debate on the League of Nations is born of pure selfishness. You see he stands for the League of Nations and against the League of Nations, hence he would be forced to take both the affirmative and negative in debate, which he probably feels would put you at a disadvantage since you could take only the affirmative.

LIMA BEANE.

To Members of the Fair-Price Commission

DEAR FRIENDS: Whether your organization ceases November 1, or whether it continues, I feel you are deserving of a vote of thanks from me, so here it is. You have done your work well, I have heard, and I believe everyone is pleased unless it be some fellow you have halted in his get-rich-quick dash. But there were mighty few of them found here.

LIMA BEANE.

To Those Who Carry Their Lunch

MY FRIENDS: I have noticed that the habit of carrying a lunch pail or box or other container is hitting this city as it has others. I see more of you doing it every day, and I must confess I am glad of it. I have seen some examples of prices in restaurants myself. The old bucket brigade will help lower them.

LIMA BEANE.

To L. E. Ludwig

To R. R. Trubey

FRANK: You ought to take your show on the road—If you could draw houses such as you had this week when you debated on the campaign issues you could make 'em all look like pickers. But I enjoyed the performance and am sure a large number of my people got some good pointers from your arguments. Anyway, I've heard more arguments along the streets since. You may be responsible.

LIMA BEANE.

To Central and South Football Teams

BOYS: I have seen you play this fall—and lose. But you have demonstrated to me that you are made of the right stuff for each succeeding game you come back full of fight. That's right. It's not the beatings you get but the way you come back that counts in life.

LIMA BEANE.

DEAR FRIEND: Some election officials have decided that your title is "home manager." I suppose that in an official sense this is the best they could do. But personally I like "home maker" better than "home manager." And I don't mind adding that I regard your job as the most important in the world.

LIMA BEANE.

To Mayor Burkhardt

To City Council

GENTLEMEN: Leading scientists declare that Old Earth cannot last more than 200 million years. Can't you do something to speed up the Main-st improvement?

LIMA BEANE.

To Drug Store Proprietors

GENTLEMEN: Just a little tip. A certain doctor has declared carrots are fine for the complexion. The girls will buy them by the cart load if you advertise it, and besides you will be doing humanity a favor by cutting down the supply which otherwise might be cooked for eating.

LIMA BEANE.

To Franklin Roosevelt

MY DEAR FRANK: You made a hit with me in your talk at Memorial Hall, Tuesday. Your talk could not have been more convincing and I believe that everyone who heard you feels about it exactly as I do.

You have all the earnestness of the Teddy of grateful memory, but I was glad to note that you do not essay his style of oratory. It would be only imitation. There never was but one real Teddy Roosevelt and he has departed from this earth.

Your words carry conviction without the necessity of atmosphere mauling such as is essayed by a certain other young man who bears your name and who is seeking to climb the ladder of success by beginning at the top rung instead of the one at the bottom. I was glad to have you here, Franklin.

TODAY'S HEALTH HINTS

By William Brady, M. D.

The name applied to broncho-pneumonia by the older doctors was better than the modern name. They called it capillary bronchitis meaning that it is essentially an inflammation of the smallest bronchial tubes. And a still older title is halfway descriptive, too—the disease was at once known as "suffocative catarrh." Suffocative was right, but we need not apply the meaningless name of "catarrh" to anything unless we are not sure what we are talking about.

Unlike ordinary pneumonia (lobar pneumonia, lung fever, pleura pneumonia) which has been discussed in recent issues, broncho-pneumonia is usually secondary to some other illness, and it usually develops gradually or insidiously without the sudden chill of onset commonly noted in ordinary lung fever. It is likely to occur in the course of or as a sequel to measles, whooping-cough, diphtheria, chicken-pox, scarlet fever, influenza, or acute enteritis (protracted diarrhea) in infants. Notwithstanding the fears of parents, it seldom follows ordinary bronchitis in children, and this fact perhaps accounts for the great faith some parents place in various remedies applied in bronchitis to ward off or prevent pneumonia.

I do not mean to say that external and internal remedies are without value in bronchitis or in broncho-pneumonia. Much may be done to increase the patient's comfort or diminish discomfort. But it is silly to imagine that any known internal or external remedy will prevent pneumonia, or break it up. It is the veriest chicanery for any healer to pretend that he can abort or break up pneumonia. All such assertions are founded on nothing more substantial than a happy agreement between Old Doctor Nature and Trained Nurse Conscience.

Whoever a child with measles, chicken-pox, whooping-cough, or other disease shows a noticeable in-ber when women pitted themselves on being wonderful housewives.

JUST A GIRL

BY J. N. PHELPS

ZENA'S FIRST DAY IN AN OFFICE

It was nearly 11 before anyone came near me. Then Mr. Claxton appeared.

"I understand you are quite expert," he remarked as he sat down. "I dictate very rapidly."

"I am not expert, Mr. Claxton. But I soon shall be."

He frowned, then replied: "Well, let us see what you can do," and then without hesitating he dictated a letter of which I caught perhaps one word in four.

"I am afraid I won't do for you, Mr. Claxton," I knew my voice trembled, and I bit my lips to stop my trembling.

"Too fast for you?"

"Very much too fast, I'm sorry."

"I rose naturally they would not keep me."

"Sit down. Perhaps I can talk a little more slowly until we get acquainted." Long afterward he told me that could I have seen myself when he spoke, I wouldn't have known myself—I looked so happy.

He repeated the dictation, this time more slowly. While I did not get it all, I knew I had the important things and that I would be able to write a good letter from my notes.

"I judge you haven't had much experience," he said kindly after an hour's steady work. I was exhausted—not from the work, but with my effort to concentrate, to get every word possible. At times he would forget and dictate as he had at first; then he would catch himself up with a little laugh, and speak more slowly.

"Not any in this kind of work," I replied.

"No sir. I have studied very hard to fit myself for such a position, but because my health would not permit me to do heavy work such as I have been doing—before I was taken ill."

He looked at me queerly, yet I thought with more interest than I had before.

"You do not look fitted for heavy work. What sort of work was it if I may ask?"

"A girl friend and myself took a little money I had—I did not think it necessary to mention I had pawned my jewelry to get it—'an started a small shop."

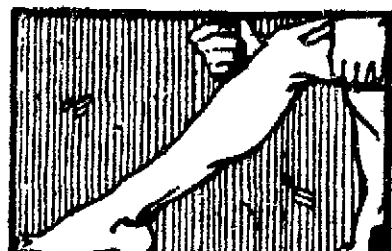

"What kind of a shop?"

"We called it the 'Two Sisters Shop,' but it really was a pancake shop. My landlady, Mrs. Fagin helped us."

"And you were successful?"

"For the very first—that is we were successful in a small way, but better than we could have expected on our small capital."

"And because of illness you had to withdraw, and take a position?"

YOUR NAME

VARIATIONS—Hill, Hiler, Hilver, Hillman, Hillman, Hillman, Hillman.

Source—Locality, also occupation.

This is a most widespread group of family names, the one most frequently met with being Hill, with probably Hillman, Hill and Hilver next in order. They are all of them English names, and all trace back to an old Anglo-Saxon word which has come down to us almost unchanged, and is as common as today as it was in the reign of Alfred the Great. The word is (just what you think it is) "hill."

But all of the family names in this group have not developed from this word in the same manner.

The name of Hill, as well as Hill, is in the vast majority of cases a mere concentration of the old descriptive phrase "at the hill" or "at the crooked (crooks) and other vessels." In the varied spellings of the late Norman days, the surname occurs as "de la Hill," "de la Hill," "de la Hille" and "atte (at the) Hille."

Another variation another method of development is responsible for the modern names. This word "hill," or "hull" was also used figuratively to denote a roof, and also for the verb "to roof." An abstract from an ancient document reads, "Whyt clay and roof for to make crookes (crooks) and other vessels and barned (burnt) tryll (tile) to be houses and churches." Again, Wicliffe, in the translation of one Bible passage, says: "The ship (ship) was hilled (hilled) or covered with wavis."

The words "hilyer" and "hillman" therefore, were descriptive of occupations, which explains why these family names in their varied spellings are not within the old records in such forms as "Roger le Hilyer," "Ivo le Hiler" and "John le Hillman."

Tomorrow—Henderson.

Stops Pain Like Magic

In grandmother's day the first thought was Liniment. Hot Drops, when some one had a pain—and pain vanished every time this old reliable remedy was used.

New fangled and more costly things have won the younger generation away from some of the good old-fashioned remedies, but the demand for Liniment Hot Drops is greater today than ever. Nothing else so quickly relieves cramps, stomach and intestinal pains, rheumatic and neuralgic pain, toothache, earache and similar distress.

Liniment Hot Drops, for internal and external use, costs only 50c and 60c a bottle. At drug stores—guaranteed.

How the League Issue Is Splitting the Parties

The desertion of the Harding camp by a former Republican National Committeeman and a number of other prominent pro-League Republicans after Senator Harding's uncompromising rejection of the League of Nations in its present form in his Des Moines speech, convinces many observers that the League has taken its place at the eleventh hour as a clear-cut issue of the Presidential campaign. But if the League issue is now rending the Republican ranks, is also a matter of common newspaper remark that earlier in the campaign it won over to the Harding banner many Irish-American and German-American voters who supported Wilson in 1916. And it will be remembered it was on this issue that the Hearst papers abandoned their traditional Democratic allegiance.

In the Democratic camp Senator Harding's Des Moines speech was greeted with every appearance of rejoicing. The New York Times (Dem.) declares that "the election of Cox means a League of Nations acceptable to President Wilson, and Republican success apparently precludes American participation in the League," but, affirms the Baltimore American (Rep.), all that Senator Harding has done in this matter has been "to turn his back upon the Wilson League and turn his face toward the Constitution and toward the Senate," and the New York Globe (Rep.) is "convinced that Senator Harding will be compelled to move for the ratification of the Treaty of Versailles."

A most interesting and instructive analysis and digest of public opinion on the League of Nations issue will be found in the leading article of THE LITERARY DIGEST for October 23d. Other striking news-features in this number are:—

CHARTER BOOSTEDMerchants Urged to Back Reform City Government

In his fourth lecture for the day on the commission manager form of government, Professor A. R. Hatton of Cleveland, told the members of the Lima Merchants Association Thursday night at their dinner meeting held at the Knights of Columbus building, that it will be a great mistake if the citizens fail to get behind the charter and put it across at the November election.

Hatton is the father of commission-manager form of government in Ohio, having drafted the provisions of the state constitution providing for the adoption of a charter by cities. He declared more money is to be spent in the future in cities than in the past and that it "depends entirely on the organization of the government whether this is to be a good thing or merely an added expense."

Paul Crawford, a member of the charter commission, told the body an investigation in other cities made by the charter commission showed both efficiency and economy.

Before adjourning, it was agreed by the merchants to boost the charter between now and election time in their newspaper advertising.

Cyrus Woodbury, state agent for a fire insurance company, told the merchants of the economy of use and occupancy insurance, which reimburses the owner of a business for loss of the time and profits following a fire.

A committee appointed to make an investigation of the Chalmers Pump and Manufacturing Co., made a favorable report. A strong appeal was made to Lima investors to place their money in local industries.

SHORT CUTS

The short cut, if the road be steep, may not be the shortest after all.

Got Relief From Terrible Eczema

Would wake him up during the night and could not resist scratching, which caused great sores. Declared the root and herb remedy, Dreco, has driven it from his system.

"I hope some person who suffers from eczema will read what I have to say and will be led to try this great medicine, Dreco." are the words of Mr. L. A. Collins, one of Marion, O., best citizens, who owns a big farm four miles from this city.

My life has been a misery for years on account of this terrible disease," he continued, "why it would wake me up at night itching and burning like fire. I could not resist scratching as that seemed to relieve it, but this made big sores all over my body. I've tried ointments, creams, lotions, everything recommended to cure eczema, but without success.

"I decided to try Dreco, which was claimed to be a blood purifier and system cleanser, and Dreco is what has given me such wonderful relief. It has stopped the itching and burning; also dried up the sores and today I am absolutely free from eczema. Dreco also cleaned my liver off; stopped dizzy spells; quieted my nerves so that I could sleep well and has created a splendid appetite. I certainly praise Dreco at every opportunity."

Dreco is made from herbal plants which clear the impurities from the blood; rouse a lazy liver to action; strengthen weak kidneys; aids the stomach to digest the food and relieve constipation.

All drug stores now sell Dreco and it is being especially introduced in Lima by Baldwin's Central Drug Store, Cor. Main and High-sts. Adv.

THE PALACE OF DARKENED WINDOWS

BY MARY HASTINGS BRADLEY

THE MIDNIGHT VISITOR

That stealthy touch brought Arlee half awake, shot with ghastly alarm. Her heart stopped beating. It stood still in the cold clutch of terror. The breath seemed to have left her body.

Once more she felt the hands groping upon her. It came from the back side of her bed, reaching apparently from the very wall. And then she heard a voice whispering: "Be still—I do not hurt you."

It was a woman's voice, soft, sibilant, hushed, and the frozen grip of fear was broken. She was trembling now uncontrollably.

"Who is there?" the warning response, and then, her eyes starting into the shadowy recesses, she saw the curtains at the back side of the bed were parting as a figure appeared between them.

"Give me a box, a book—something to put here in this lock," commanded the voice peremptorily, and in a daze Arlee found herself extending a magazine across the bed toward the half-seen figure, who turned and busied herself about the curtains a moment, then came straight across the bed into the room beside Arlee.

"Now you see who I am," said the astonishing intruder calmly. "Mutterly Arlee shook her head, seeing only a figure about her own height clad in a dark negligee. Dumbfounded, she stood watching while her visitor deliberately lighted a candle.

"So—that is better," she observed, and in the light of the tiny taper between them the two stood facing each other.

Arlee saw a girl some years older than herself, a small, plump, round-shouldered creature, with a flaming and insouciant prettiness. Her eyes were dark and bright, her babyish lips were full and scarlet, her nose was whimsically upturned. Dark hair curled closely to the vivacious face and fell in ringlets over the white neck.

"You don't know me?" she said in astonishment at Arlee's eyes of wonder. "He has not told you?" Incredulity, imprudent and working, darted out of the dark eyes.

"What you think then—what you got my room?" Arlee echoed faintly. She clung a quivering hand toward the bed. "How did you get in here? I locked the door—"

"You see how I came—I came by the panel," she waited a moment, watching the wide blue eyes before her, the parted lips, the white cheeks in which the blood was slowly stealing back, and reverently gave way to astonished acceptance. "You don't know that, either? That is very funny."

"Did you lock it?" was Arlee's next breathless question. "What was that you said about putting in a magazine? Did you leave it open?"

The other girl reached quickly and caught her arm, as Arlee turned toward the bed. "No, no, if it goes shut, cannot open it inside," she warned. "It does not open this side unless you have the key. It opens from without. But he will not come in now, he is not here. He lives in the palace. We are all right."

"But I want to get away," cried Arlee, she turned upon the other girl great eyes of pitiful entreaty. "Where the dark shadows about them lay like cruel bruises on the white flesh. 'I must get away at once. Won't you help me?'"

"Help you? I would help myself if I could. But there is no way out of it no way." The unknown girl spoke with a bitterness that brought conviction. Piteously the flare of hope and spirit wilted.

"You are sure?" she questioned faintly. "There is no way out?"

"No way, no way!" This other shook her head impatiently. "Do I not know? Let us talk of that again. Now I come to see you, to see what pretty face had sent me packing!" She laughed, but there was unkindness in the laughter, and catching up the candle she held it before Arlee, her face impudently close, her eyes black darts of curiosity.

"Well you are pretty enough," she said coolly. "Hamdi has always the good taste. But do you think you will keep my room from me?"

"I do not want your room," said Arlee with passionate intensity. "I wish to stay here. I want only to go away. Oh, there must be a way. Please help me—please."

She choked and broke down, the tears hot in her eyes. "The other girl abruptly drew her down on the couch and settled herself beside her among the cushions. 'Here—be comfortable—let us be comfortable and talk,' she said. 'Do not cry so—What you are so soon sorry? You want to be off?'"

Desperately Arlee steadied her shaking voice. "I must go at once."

"Enough!" was the quivering echo.

"What you come for then?" "Come for? I did not know what I was coming into. I thought—but tell me," she broke off to demand, "tell me about the plague. Was there any quarantine at all? How soon was it over? What is really happening?"

"Quar—quar—what you mean?" "The plague? Has there been a plague here? Have people had to stay in the palace on account of it?"

"Oh—no!" The unknown girl was eloquent of enlightenment. "Is that something he said to you?"

"Yes, yes. Isn't it true? Wasn't there any plague?"

With eyes of dreadful apprehension she saw the other shake her head in vigorous denial. "No plague," she said decisively. "My maid she knows everything. No sickness here."

"Then it was all a lie," Arlee's eyes fixed themselves on the dancing candle flame, swaying in the soft night air. She tried to think very coolly and collectedly, but her heart felt numb and fogged and heavy. The sight of that tortured candle flame hypnotized her. Suddenly she whispered, "Then it was all an excuse" and, at that, sharp terror, like a knife, cleaved her.

numbness. She turned furiously to her visitor. "But he would not dare make it all up!"

She saw the callousness of the shrug. "Why not—he is the master here!" Her own heart echoed fearfully the words. She stammered, "But—but I wrote—I had a letter—there must—"

"What in all the world are you saying?" demanded the other. "What is this story?" and as Arlee began the quick, whispered narration she listened intently, her little dark head on one side, nodding wisely at intervals.

"So—you came to have tea," she repeated at the close, in her quaintly inflected, foreign-sounding lisp. "And you stay because of the plague? So?"

"But I wrote—I wrote to my friends and—"

"And gave him the letters!" "But—or a telegram rather," Arlee knitted her brows in furious thought. "And it sounded like her."

"Does he know her, that friend?" questioned the other and at Arlee's nod, then he could write it himself—that is easy on telegraph paper. He is so clever, that devil, Hamdi."

"But my friends knew where I was going"—slowly the mind turned back to trace the blind, careless steps of that afternoon. "At least he said he'd leave a note—Oh, what a fool I was!" she broke off to gasp, seeing how that forethought of his, that far-sighted remark, had prevented her from leaving a note of her own. And she remembered now, with flashing clearness, that upon her arrival he had carelessly inquired if she, too, had left a note of explanation. How lightly she had told him not. And what unguessed springs of action came perhaps from that simple word! For so cleverly had the trap been swiftly prepared that if anything had gone wrong, if anyone had become aware of her intentions, it could have passed off as a visit and she would have returned to her hotel prattling joyously of her wonderful glimpse into the seclusion of Turkish aristocracy!

"But the soldier with the bayonet," she said aloud. "There was one on the stairs."

"A servant?" "Oh, if I had passed him!" "You could not—he would run you thru on a nod from Hamdi. They watch that stairs always—day and night."

DIARY OF AN ENGAGED GIRL

BY PHYLLIS PHILLIPS

Friday, Sept. 23. — Milan — has been trying to get a husband for herself for the past six years and failed—also been scolded by the fairy— I might feel really cross about her letter. As it is, however, I merely feel that she is more to be pitied than scorned. Must confess that there was an undercurrent in her note that sort of got me. A veiled hint of some side of Jack that I know nothing of. Not for the world would I let the dame know this for it would be a feather in her cap, if she heard that I had been disturbed in any way by her news. Besides, suspicion is something so loathsome to me that I would rather die than cultivate any in my own soul.

I suppose that the long and the short of it that Jack has felt lonely way out there in Los Angeles, and taken to roaming about in search of amusement to make him forget the ache in his heart—at my absence. This may be a pretty conceit on my part, but I prefer to think so.

Heaven knows I am no saint myself and at this very moment I am dreaming of all sorts of possible adventures and dark-eyed lovers, despite my engagement ring and my longing for Jack. Nice one I'd be to sit down and criticize any little side-steps of his, then, wouldn't I? My young life is far too full at present for me to sit down and brood about imaginary evils. I can tell you, and Rome, lovely Rome, just a few hours away from me.

No, indeed, I came over for a time, and I'm going to film, come what may. I hope that old Jack is having a glorious time, even forgetting—if he feels as I do. "What's if I didn't know that Millicent Long" sauce for the gander is sauce for the goose. We didn't see her advanced ideas."

At the end of the letter Millicent asked me if I knew of a saubry-nosed little girl called Barbara out-in Los Angeles. That did make me laugh. Do I know Jack's cousin? Well, I should say I don't we all know her, and her the ways? I wonder what Millicent will write next? (To Be Continued.)

Nervous Breakdown

"I am so nervous it seems as though I should fly"—"My nerves are all on edge"—"I wish I were dead." How often have we heard these expressions or others quite as extravagant from some loved one who has been brought to this state by some female trouble which has slowly developed until the nerves can no longer stand up under it. No woman should allow herself to drift into this condition without giving that good old-fashioned root and herb remedy Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial.

Read the Letters of These Two Women.

North East, Md.—"I was in ill health four or five years and doctored with one doctor after another but none helped me. I was irregular and had such terrible pain in my back, lower part of my body and down each side that I had to go to bed three or four days every month. I was very nervous, tired, could not sleep and could not eat without getting sick. A friend asked me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I am sorry I did not take it sooner for it has helped me wonderfully. I don't have to go to bed with the pain, can eat without being sick and have more strength. I recommend your medicine and you are at liberty to publish my testimonial."

Minneapolis, Minn.—"I was run down and nervous, could not rest at night and was more tired in the morning than when I went to bed. I have two children, the youngest three months old and it was dangerous to care for them as I felt so irritable and generally worn out. From lack of rest and appetite my baby did not get enough nourishment from my milk so I started to give him two bottle feedings a day. After taking three bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I felt like a new woman, full of life and energy. It is a pleasure to care for my children, and I am very happy with them and feel fine. I nurse my baby exclusively again, and can't say too much for your medicine."

HARDING RETURNS TO MARION

Will Begin Campaign Tour of Ohio Next Week

MARION — (By Associated Press) — With his return to Marion Friday after his short campaign excursion into New York state, Senator Harding had before him four days of freedom from speech-making before beginning the swing around the circle of his own state that will wind up his campaign.

The speech at Buffalo Thursday night completed the nominee's list of engagements outside Ohio. His front porch program also is virtually at an end. And the only speaking dates now definitely to be filled are the four next week in Cleveland, Akron, Cincinnati and Columbus.

Whether Senator Harding will fill all of these engagements in one trip, or will return to Marion between speeches has not been determined. Some of his advisers are urging that he make no attempt to spend any of the time after Wednesday at home, but devote the spare time to rear platform speeches.

STUDENTS TAKING UP POLITICS

Many Arguments Heard at Central Every Day

"Are you for Harding or Cox?" This question can be heard dozens of times a day from Central high school students. The pupils have warmed up to the campaign with great zeal and the teachers are having their troubles with arguments. Buttons, banners and party literature are seen everywhere. The majority of the politically inclined students will be old enough to vote for the next president and many are boasting that their first ballot will be cast for the winner this year.

The Mirror, the high school publication, has not yet declared its politics as advocates of both parties hold Mirror positions. Every day or so a picture of one of the candidates is posted in the Mirror office and usually destroyed by the opposing student.

The history classes of the school are taking up political questions that these are intended to be strictly non-partisan and educational.

The Platonian Literary society will hold a debate next Wednesday, discussing Harding and Cox. The senate will follow with an open discussion on the same subject.

There is no doubt that Central students are much interested in politics. In every hallway, cloak hall, on the steps or going to or home from school politics has taken the place of parties, football, etc., for chief topic of conversation.

MANY BOY BABIES
PARIS.—The old theory that nature provides for the loss in man power after a great war by producing more boys than girl babies is borne out in Paris birth statistics. During the present year nearly 60 per cent of the infants born in the French capital have been boys. The same thing was observed in Germany after the Napoleonic wars.

LIKES FARM LIFE
SWEETWATER, Neb.—An army police dog in the United States service jumped from a Burlington baggage car and took up residence on the farm of A. W. Zinnel. The collar and tag identifying the dog as army official were notified. He will be sent to Omaha to the fort, although the dog has indicated by every means in his power that he prefers farm to army life.

BEST MAN AT WEDDING STRICKEN TOTALLY BLIND

PAWTUCKET, R. I.—Stricken suddenly blind while acting as best man at a wedding, William Allison concealed the fact and calmly went thru with his part of the ceremony.

He collapsed when it was over and was treated by eye specialists, who stated that he was totally blind and would probably not regain his sight.

Allison was acting as best man to Robert Williams, who was married to Miss Ada Gaston. The ceremony was performed at the Congdon Street Baptist Church. Allison is a graduate of Pawtucket High School and was well known as a football player. He is twenty-four years old.

NAME OF PARENTS FORGOTTEN

Fruitless Search Made for Relatives of Belgian Boy

BRUSSELS.—Belgium is being searched far and wide for the parents of a twelve-year-old war orphan now living in America, who cannot remember his family name. The boy has found a home with Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Conover, of Indian avenue, Newport, R. I. Mr. Conover was formerly a chaplain of the American Red Cross attached to the Naval Hospital at Brest, where he found the little Belgian living sick and took him under his own care, later taking the boy to his home in America.

Mr. Conover, thinking the boy's parents may still be living, has appealed to the Belgian authorities to find them. The search is particularly difficult in view of the lack of details concerning the young Belgian's past. The boy dimly recalls that his first name was George. His vaguely remembers the prefix "van" to his surname, indicating that he is of titled birth, and believes that his father was called Baron.

In telling his story he says that he was about six years old when the German army occupied Brussels, where he lived in very comfortable circumstances with his father and mother. He was an only child. His father, he says, was too old to go to war. He remembers very little of his mother, but recalls that his father was extremely fond of him, spending a great part of the day in his company, teaching him Latin and music and helping him with his other studies.

He remembers that his father once told him that he was the last of a very ancient family.

When the German armies approached Brussels the boy's parents fled to a chateau near Dismude. Here they were overtaken by the invading forces and the boy was separated from them. He never saw his parents again and does not know what became of them. He himself ran away and reached the British lines, where he was adopted by a British officer.

He lived for nearly four years with British troops until the sector was taken over by the American Twenty-seventh Division. He remained with the Twenty-seventh and followed his American friends to Brest after the armistice. Several attempts to board transports and follow the division to America proved fruitless. Finally the little Belgian fell sick and was taken to the Naval Hospital at Brest, where Captain Conover found and adopted him.

These facts are now in the possession of the authorities in Brussels and it is hoped that by their aid some trace of the boy's parents may

STEAMER HELD UP

CONNEAUT, O.—Following the arrest Friday of the two members of the crew of the steamer Lakesport, playing between here and Canadian ports, charged with transporting liquor, L. J. Blasz, local revenue collector, acting on orders from Cleveland, ordered the steamer tied up at the dock, took away the passports of Captain T. E. Greenwood and sent him to Cleveland to appear before chief collector Stone.

SEES DEMOCRATIC VICTORY

CHICAGO.—Frank E. Doremus, chairman of the Midwestern Division of the democratic national headquarters, issued a statement Friday declaring "the air is surcharged with the approaching democratic victory."

Mr. Doremus claimed Indiana for Cox, added that Kansas is changing from Harding to Cox and that encouraging reports are coming from Nebraska.

LIVES RESTORED BY PENNIES OF CHILDREN

MESSINA, Sicily.—Thirty-five little Italian boys and girls are maintained by the Junior Red Cross of America in the open air hospital-school here. Writing postcards and letters to the American school children whose generosity has saved them from a lifetime of disease and deformity in their favorite pastime.

Six months ago these children, many of whom are war orphans, were doomed either to a lingering death or a life of misery.

When the Junior Red Cross learned of their distress it came to their rescue, and with money given by American school children, has brought them to Messina, on the sunny shores of the Mediterranean. Here, all day long, they live in the sunshine, out on the beach. A miniature village of creamy white tents, where they eat, sleep, and go to school, is their home.

LIMA PREPARES FOR GAME SUNDAY WITH RAIL-LIGHTS

TICKETS GO ON SALE FOR LEGION BOUT HERE NEXT TUESDAY NIGHT—KENTUCKIANS TO MEET STRONG HARVARD ELEVEN SATURDAY

KID ST. ELMAS HAS GOT TO FIGHT TO WHIP SANDOW

Much question is being raised in the minds of local sporting fans as to whether Kid St. Elmas, local fighter, can stand as he has been doing against Dave Sandow, Cincinnati pug matched against the Lima boy for the coming Legion card.

Reports coming from the Queen City indicate that Sandow is getting in trim for the coming bout and that he is one of the toughest fighters that has thus far been matched against St. Elmas' youngster.

That Kid St. Elmas is training hard is indicated in local sporting circles by the current rumors that he realizes the kind of a fighter he is to meet and is whipping into excellent shape for the Legion fight at Memorial Hall Tuesday night.

Another of bouts which is causing more or less gab among sportsmen here is that scheduled between "Red Cap" Wilson of Albany, N. Y., and Happy McHenry of Montpelier, Ind.

Both are known to be real fighters with that usual streak of low missing the ring. They are straight forward slingers and promoters here anticipate a real battle from the first sound of the song.

And last, but by no means least, is the fight between Sammy Hess, Hoosier boy hauling from Port Wayne, and Earl Butler, Cincinnati. They scrapped here in the last preliminaries for eight rounds and it was a disappointing feature of the bout that it did not go another two rounds as both were going at it strong when the final gong clang.

Tickets went on sale Thursday and the advanced sale is indicative of a record-breaking attendance. Many mail orders have been received.

MAN-O-WAR HAS CLOSE ESCAPE

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. — Man O' War, the super-horse of the century, had a narrow escape from serious injury Thursday at the Rosa Tree Hunt club at Media, Pa. The great thoroughbred was hauled from the Glen Riddle farm to Media on a truck. As the gang plank was lowered for the horse to walk down a big crowd rushed forward and some of the more excited persons cheered. The great thoroughbred, excited by the noise, spring sideways from the gang plank and landed with a jolt on the ground. Before he could bolt a half dozen grooms grabbed the champion.

FOOTBALL HAS THE CENTER OF STAGE

(BY HENRY L. FARRELL.)

NEW YORK — (By United Press) — If the earth quakes a little under the thud of football feet Saturday, some fine air castles are liable to fall.

With the slightest upset of the dope, Harvard, Princeton, Pittsburgh, Penn. Cornell, Penn State, Brown, Syracuse, Washington and Jefferson, or Lehigh, will be shoved behind in the rush for the eastern championship.

HARVARD TO FORE
Harvard and Centre get the premier place on the Saturday bill.

This battle between the Kentucky wonders and the undefeated, unscathed-on-Crimson is not the only feature game of the day, but promises to be a season classic.

Harvard is being picked to win, because of a heavy line that makes straight football look improbable for Centre and because of Harvard's surmised ability to stop a forward pass and render null a one-man attack.

Because of the issue at stake, the Syracuse-Dartmouth game looks next important. Syracuse has to win to keep in the race and Dartmouth is powerful as evidenced by holding the mighty Penn State to 14 to 7, and by beating Holy Cross 14 to 7.

With one of the finest backfields on the gridiron and her well-known Tiger head, Princeton ought to beat the Navy in a tie important tilt.

WITS PLAY TECH
Pittsburgh has one of the strongest teams in the country and the Warner boys should beat Georgia Tech in the annual classic of Smoke-town.

On comparative showing last week, West Virginia has a good chance to beat Yale.

Penn's game with Virginia military institute, looks soft on paper. But considering the fact that the Virginians ran up a score of 136 to 0 against Hampden-Sidney and have scored 307 points in four games, it is hard to see how they can be beaten.

Win the last Saturday against Lafayette.

HARVARD SET FOR BATTLE SATURDAY

NEW YORK — An inter-sectional football game of far more than natural interest features the gridiron schedule Saturday in the meeting of Harvard university and Centre college of Danville, Ky.

Harvard eleven hold the unique position of facing from time to time the leading exponents of football from distant sections of the country.

In facing Centre college at Cambridge, however, there are unusual features which separate the coming contest from even the occasional inter-sectional game which brings together the supposedly best eleven of two portions of the country.

WAS A SURPRISE
Attention was first focused upon Centre college teams several seasons ago when reports of large and one-sided scores began to be published. Gradually the report spread that the football eleven developed at the little Methodist institution of less than 400 students, located in the Kentucky blue grass region were not the result of freak or haphazard conditions but the fruition of a system which compared favorably with those governing football at the leading colleges and universities of the country.

When the season of 1919 closed it was seen that Centre had tallied up 485 points against 33 for her nine opponents and that the members of the team were selected for the all-American eleven with a third place among the substitutes of that mythical all-star combination, football followers throughout the country began to take Centre college seriously.

She was invited to arrange a game with Harvard and quickly accepted.

Early Friday the Centre college football squad, accompanied by more than 500 rooters, including the president of the college, the members of the faculty and a number of staid Kentucky business men, passed thru this city on their way to Boston.

THEY ARE HOPEFUL
The team is in charge of the coach, Charles Moran, who also holds the position of National league baseball umpire in the summer time. While the invading combination is not hotheaded, it is apparent that Centre supporters expect the team to win.

The entire south is barking the eleven. Other college coaches and players helped to put the finishing touch on the training before the squad left Danville. Scores of special telegraph wires will carry every detail of the play from Cambridge to southern cities, where the game will be followed by thousands of football enthusiasts.

Nine of the eleven players who formed the regular teams of last season and 12 varsity letter men are in the squad including Captain Alvin (Bo) McMillan, quarterback, and James Weaver, center, named for the 1919 all-American team.

McMillan is noted as a wonderful broken field runner with Red Weaver, and Fullback Jim Roberts as goal and field goal kickers extraordinaire.

The team is said to possess a versatile running and over-head attack almost impossible to stop and the fact that in four games this season Centre has run up the astonishing score of 241 to 0, indicates its scoring power.

DANVILLE, Ky. — A special train carrying the Centre college football eleven, which will play Harvard at Cambridge Saturday, left here early Thursday. Besides the twenty-seven players, the train also carried about 300 boosters, including college students and Danville citizens. It is scheduled to arrive at Cambridge tomorrow afternoon.

A crowd numbering several thousand was at the station and gave the team a sendoff.

All Danville is highly excited over the game with Harvard. The players themselves and Coach Charles Moran were confident of winning. Moran, it was said, is of the belief that the game will be close but expects his stars, especially McMillan, quarterback, Roberts, full back, and Weaver, center, to carry Centre to victory.

SEALTS BOWLERS COP 3 GAMES

A team of bowlers representing Swift & Co. lost two out of three games played Thursday night at the Broadway alleys to the J. J. Sealts Co.

ROTTOFF INJURED
The backfield, the missing Rottoff who is still hurt from the Friday game, is developing speed. The big question Saturday will probably be as formerly—can the line hold?

Tiffin is reported to have one of the heaviest teams in the Trolley League.

South Hi will fight to the end Saturday in an attempt to prove that they can beat Delphos under any conditions and the Lima public are strongly behind the team.

Central Hi will hold a using snake dance and parade thru the downtown district tonight showing the public they are confident that their team will be the victor and inviting everyone to come and see the slaughter.

With the opening whistle less than twenty-four hours away, members of both Central and South teams are wondering what will happen tomorrow. Both teams have speed, weight, and some clever plays—but have they enough? That is the question. South and Central, however, are relying on the Pagan Madonna-Chance and trick plays.

CHEER LEADER NAMED
The Junior Class of Central high school elected Russel Botkins cheer leader of the class at a meeting Thursday.

CENTRAL HAS TEAM READY FOR TIFFIN

Central and South Hi are ready to put up the battles of their lives tomorrow. Central at home against Tiffin and South at Delphos.

Both teams could be in better condition. South is badly crippled and the Central appears ready, lest Saturday's game shows that you never can tell what will happen next.

Tiffin defeated South Hi by a large score while both teams lost to Findlay. Central, however, is determined to get revenge for South Hi by defeating Tiffin so bad that they will never forget Lima has a football team.

There has been several changes in the line this week. Blunk has been playing tackle some of the time and Robinson and Bates are playing guard. Douglass is still a general utility man, playing end, halfback or tackle.

FANS SATISFIED
The announcement that the Rail-Lights would be the next visiting club on the local base ball schedule has caused heaps of satisfaction among the Lima bugs and the home management is congratulating themselves in being able to have concluded two years of efforts by inducing the "Raiders" to come to Lima as the opposition to the best line-up that has ever been mustered together to don the Lima uniform.

Otto Neu, a member of the latest world's champions, will positively play the short field in Sunday's game, having been induced to play this contest on the request of his brother, Marty Neu, regular second sacker of the Lima team.

OTTO NEU AT SHORT
Local fans can anticipate some real shortstopping when Otto takes his place at short along side of flash Gillhooley who will again play the far corner of the diamond.

Bill Sykes, former Lima first sacker and this season with the Bloomington three I League club, will be stationed at first base which sounds good to the hundreds of base ball admirers that Sykes has among local fans. Ralph Herring's catching will add a tower of strength to the team and will permit Mann to dish up the best pitching strength that he has in order to stop the heavy hitting forces that the Rail-Lights are known to have.

The past three seasons the Rail-Light club has been the one attraction that local fans have desired to see above all other visiting clubs. However, the home management could not get together with the Toledo aggregation due to the fact that larger cities have always been able to outbid this city, all of which has nothing to do with the fact that the claimants of the Worlds Semi-Pro title will be in Lima next Sunday.

PROFESSIONAL BALL PLAYERS SIGNED BY LIMA TEAM

Big League Day at the local ball yard next Sunday when the Toledo Rail-Lights and Lima team clash in the first battle that the two teams have had in the past three seasons.

Following the announcement that the home team would have in their ranks such stars as Gillhooley of the New York Americans, Otto Neu of the Cleveland Worlds Series Champions comes the word that Bill Sykes, regarded as the classiest first baseman in the minor leagues, and Ralph Herring of the Triangles, have been annexed to the local roster for Sunday's game, rounding out what looks like the best base ball club that has ever represented this city for an afternoon of the national pastime.

Callahan Brothers Make Hit With Home Folks

BILL IS DECLARED GOOD

"Alias Jimmy Valentine" Appears at the Sigma

(BY ESTHER WAGNER.)
To my mind, the program being presented the last half of this week at the Orpheum is an attractive bill.

To begin with, there are the Callahan brothers, our home town boys, who made a big hit at every performance Thursday, not just because they are from Lima, but because they can deliver the goods.

Lutes Brothers, known as the eighth wonder of the world, also appear on the program. Mr. Clara A. Lutes, who is armless, can play the slide-trombone, saw wood, hammer nails and lots of other things and all with his toes. His most wonderful exhibition, however, is shooting targets, and even the flame off candles. One of the most marvelous acts ever presented here.

Williams and Lee, acrobats and tumblers, have the usual line, but are good of their kind. A really enjoyable act.

The Thompson Berri Trio is another unusually good act. One of the company is a youngster of about six, who beats any child actor ever seen here. He sings, dances, and tells a few funny stories, all of which is enthusiastically received.

Belle Oliver, comedienne, has a rather good voice and offers a series of original songs. Wells and Reggs, two gentlemen, have an act that is different, therefore, entertaining.

If this bill doesn't suit some of you people who are so hard to satisfy, then nothing ever will.

"Alias Jimmy Valentine" is the story of a gentleman thief endowed with the dangerous gift of being able to open any safe by means of the super-sensitive nerves at his finger tips. He plays his same once too often, however, but not before he has managed to fall under the spell of a pair of beautiful eyes.

While in prison the owner of the eyes appears and thru her efforts Jimmy Valentine is liberated and given a position in her father's bank. And because the owner of the eyes is young and lovely Jimmy determines to make good. And he succeeds.

On the legitimate stage, this play was one of the biggest hits of the season. Its film presentation may disappoint those who saw it in its first form, for it has been changed some what and a superfluity of detail inserted, especially in the first part of the picture. Towards the end, however, the action picks up and the interest is strengthened.

Bert Lytell makes a pretty good Jimmy Valentine and succeeds in eliciting the sympathy of the audience from the very start. The best bit of acting, however, unpleasant is done by Dick the Rat, who can pick the most complicated lock ever invented.

"Alias Jimmy Valentine" is appearing today at the Sigma.

SHORT SHAVINGS

Tompkins put his parcel on the dining room table with a casual air. "What have you got there, Edward?" asked his wife sternly. "Er—just a set of gloves, my dear!" explained her husband. "I bought them for Thomas. Every American boy in the future should be taught the noble art of self-defense, and I will teach our son. Come into the garden, Thomas! Don't be alarmed. I will not hurt you!"

Mrs. Tompkins smiled coldly as she went on sewing. Ten minutes later Tompkins staggered into the room and sank into a chair. "Some raw meat and arnica, Maria!" he ordered. "I've—er—sustained a little injury to my eye!"

The passengers on the pleasure steamer, having just finished dinner, were enjoying the beauties of the evening to the full. Mrs. de Vere surveyed the glories of the wonderful highland scenery and felt she could cry from sheer happiness. A majestic ravine came into view, all tender grays and shimmering browns and blues. She held her breath till they had passed. "Oh, John," she said, "what a lovely gorge that was." "Yes, darling," he said absently, "quite the best food we've had since we left London."

Mrs. Edwin was showing Selma, the new Swedish maid, "the ropes." "This," she said, "is my son's room. He is in Yale." "Yah!" Selma's face lit up with sympathetic understanding. "My brudder ban there, too." "Is that so? What year?"
